IT

I've been to see the biggest thing That's happered in the nation ; And, throwin Bester sights aside, It heat the live creation-I mean the Fancy Ball, that come And sot this town a-hoppin, Last Wednesday night, in such a way It couldn't think of stoppin.

Cuoncis-Air "Yanker Doodle." Wonders come, and wonders go, Wonders great and small, sirs ; But the latest, and the greatest, Wonder was the Ball, sirs,

I dressed myself in bran-new stuff-You bet, I showed the swaller : And trousers, gracious! strapped so tight They almost made me hotler : Hair fixed to kill-the goose-grease spread All over, shone the slickest You ever saw :- just calculate, I traveled, now the quickest.

Wonders come, and wenders go, &c. It wasn't long before I stood In Stephen Glies' mansion ; And there stood Sal. Says she, "you look As stiff as any stanchion." Said I, " put on your fixens quick, And let's be off instanter :" Then buttoned up my coat. I felt The gizzard all a-canter.

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c.

In just a minute and a half Said Sat, says she, "I'm ready !" So off we went. It took one arm, At least, to keep her stendy. Our gallant host, the richest lord In all Number Valley. Received us with a how-dy-do, And gave his arm to Sally.

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. We pushed right straight into the room; A feller cried, "co-tillion !" And then you oughter heard that band-Breas music for the million ! You guess, I'd heard the tune before ; They played it mighty handy ; I gathered Sal, and off we went, To Yankee Doodle Dandy. Wonders come, and wonders go, &c

. I first bowed to your King and Queen ; Then stood straight on my pinions : __ Said I, "I spose you've heard before Of Uncie Sam's dominions !" My name is Jonathan. I'm on A tour .- a water-travelin ; Just stopped to see your Majesties, And take a little gravelin. Wonders come, and wonders go, &c

Then up stepped John, as big as life : " Here's my cend of the cable," Said I, "Old feller, give us yourn, As tight as you are able." "Well, Jonathan," said he, "my boy, You beat these other shavers !" "Well, guess I do! I allers dance The demi-semi-quavers." Wonders come, and wonders go, &c.

With that I whirled a young Sea-Nymph, And give her such a motion, I guess, she must have thought she'd struck A maelstrom in our ocean : We talked about the temper-ture Of things : these Merman daughters, They find it awful hot and dry Up here above the waters.

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. Next time, I caught an airy thing, The prettiest little creter You ever saw. She thought me rude, No doubt :- I run to meet her ! Said I. "don't smooth your feathers down Spread out, and make a showin :" She looked as wild as if she'd seen An apple-dumplin growin.

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. I don't know how your meetin folks Can see a bit-a harm in This dancin business-alters thought The thing fremendous charmin ! Besides, the dancin-doctors say, It helps young people ripen; And comes to 'em as nateral As sugar-tit and fightin. Wenders come, and wonders go, 4c.

Guess, when the Lord of Nater first Conceived the mighty notion Of this stupendous Universe, And set the thing in motion; He made the stars, from tangents straight, Wheel round, like Little Poodle, And all the comets chase their tails, And dance to Yankee Doodle !

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. To me, this dancin on the Earth Seems just an imitation Of what a book to-hum declares The order of creation : The planet-dames dance round the Sois, Eclipsin one another; The little moon-maids, sorter scared,

All balance round their mother! Wonders come, and wonders go, 4c. Bon't talk of statchures, things asleep ! Give me a gal that dances, Like when a hoss, that don't know how To trot or walk, just prances ! And you may bet your head, that when You scare up such a cretur.

You'll find her all alive with fun, And full of human natur. Wonders come, and wenders go, 4c Talkin of scarin, brings to mind That little live young nigger! He traveled from me straight, and yelled, " Don't catch me till I'm bigger !" The tallest sight was one Tycoon Embassador. Creations!

Said I, "Japan is out at last, And up among the nations." Wonders come, and wonders go, &c A Marquis, too, in crimson stuff-A sight to be desired He was! I never yet did see, A man so rich attir-ed.

I wow, he flashed a streak of light, With diamonds and carbuncles; And yet, I guess, they hadn't quite The crit of Aunt's and Uncle's. Wonders come, and wenders go, &c.

And Mandarins, with hoss-hair tails Stock to their heads behind em ; And Turks, with trouses-legs so big, 'Iwould take an hour to find em ; And High-landers, who live so high, That, climbin to their houses, They tell me, that the men wear out The knees of all their trouses. Wonders come, and wonders go, &c.

One feller galloped round the room, A nateral, they called him, Chased by the butter-flies and bees ; I thought, they'd overhaul him : And, guess they did ! for when I saw Him last he blushed all over, And scringed, as if the turnel things Had stung him through the cover.

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. I saw one thing I'd seen before In Boston-made for showin Your fancy fixing off :- he looked Just like a cock a-crowin : But how they got him here in shape, Does beat the equinoxes;

I guess, they must expressed him out, By pieces, in ban-boxes. Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. The thing bust up at last; but when,

I haint the slightest notion : The Morn was shinin, but the Night Shined too !- 'twas all commotion, Them gals, that carried sons and moons And stars, in counter crossin, Had got so mixed , I couldn't tell The time, no more than Rawson!

Wonders come, and wonders go, &c. I can't tell half the sights I saw; And, what is more, I wouldn't, For people sometimes tell too much, And say things that they shouldn't I'm half afeard when this gets hum, And 'twill go there, I'm thinkin. They'll say, " we don't believe a word-Our Jonathan's been drinkin." CHURES-Wonders come, and wonders go,

Wonders great and small, sirs; But the latest, and the greatest, Womier was the Ball, sirs. I have told a thing or two, Hav'n't told you all, sire; Wouldn't tell you, couldn't tell you, Half about the Bail, sirs. HONOLULE, Dec. 1, 1860

Foreign Summary.

At Bremen, lately, in one day 2,300 emigrants left that port for North America. reigning in Europe.

Garibaldi has been likened unto a man with a wheelbarrow-he "carries everything before him." According to the New York Commercial, $15,000 fitness as the abode of mana day are spent in New York for systems. The vintage in Italy is again bad. For nine years the disease (the aphis) has attacked the Neapelitan vines, and wine yearly grows dearer and worse. A new force pump, lately put up in the New Bedford Flour Mill, plays four streams, and in quantity can throw forty barrels per minute. The agents of Garibaldi in Liverpool have purchased, for the sum of £9,000, the steamer Cambrin, formerly belonging to the Cunard line. ANOTHER ASTEROID.-M. Charconac of Paris dissovered on Sept. 12th a new planet of the 9th or 10th Mag., in the constellation of the Whale. It is the 59th or 60th now known to exist between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

The Neapolitan Minister has taken leave of Governthe recent revolutionary events in his own country. The two sons of Kossuth have joined Garibaldi's army, as well as one of his nephews, the son of the lately deceased Madame Kossuth Zulavsky. The young man embarked from New York for Europe, on

THE PRICE OF A LEG.-A lady has recovered $10,000 from the Boston and Worcester Railroad for the loss of a leg. If her remaining leg is equally valuable, she would be an eligible match for some enterprising young fortune hunter.

John M. Botts made a speech at Richmond on the 2d. He took substantially the same grounds as H. Winter Davis, declaring for Bell and Everett, but opposed at all hazards to Democracy. He denounced ecession, declaring that should it be attempted, 300,000 volunteers would rush to the rescue, without calling on a single Free State.

WATER GAS .- Philadelphia papers say, water gas has been burned so successfully at the Girard House, in that city, during the past three months, that arrangements are now on foot for the erection of numerour works for the manufacture of gas, according to the process of Dr. Sanders, in New England, New York, New Jersey, and several of the Western States. on the 2d and 4th Friday evenings of each month, at 72 GARREALDI AND THE BIBLE -Garibaldi has a son o'clock P. M. Per order: in a Protestant seminary near Liverpool, which is under the management of an Italian of the name of Poggi, formerly a Dominican, and a friar of the Crescent of St. Marco, Florence. The father, in separating himself from his son, presented him a bible, and spoke thus to him : " My son, the Bible is the cannon which will liberate Italy." A LARGE ISLAND RISING FROM THE SEA.—The captain of the Chilian brig Tubal Cain, arrived in Africa, has made on affidavit, that, during his voyage from the port of Valparaiso to Africa, in lat. 31 ° 40 S., long. 73 2 25 W., he found himself alongside an

200 to 250 feet high; that the island appeared to have been recently thrown up, and was of a whitish appearance; he furthermore stated the water about was very much discolored. They sighted the island very early in the morning, and were in sight of it until Church Acoustics .- Hearing is now made easy by an experiment just completed in Trinity church, in New York. It consists of a paraboloidal reflector of sound placed at the back of the pulpit, of which the speaker's mouth is the focus. A stream of sound is thus thrown to the most remote point of the church. and by its side flow fills the whole body of the building. The structure is quite ornamental and in harmony with the general architecture of the building. All great public buildings, whether for singing or speaking, may have a similar arrangement adapted

PEN AND INK PORTRAIT.-The following is a pen portrait of the Dictator of Sicily, as given by a surgeon whose services had been accepted as a volunteer in his service: He is as gentle as a dove, and has a mild, placid countenance. He has rather the gentleness of a woman than the ferocity of a soldier. He commands in an under tone, and, when everybody around him is full of anxiety, he is as cool as a cucumber. His dress is simply a red flannel shirt, rather the worse for the wear, a pair of gray trousers. and a black wide-awake, a beautiful sword; no coat or blouse.

COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES.-A statement has appeared in the Washington Constitution, which shows a total of exports from the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1860, if the figures are rightly given, of $400,167,461 against $361,797,-200 total imports, being as excess of exports amounting to $38,370,252. The imports are only about one million larger than the corresponding total for 1856-7, but the exports, if the summary is correct, are upwards of twenty-seven millions larger than for any previous year in the history of the country.

A Magnificent Street in New Orleans.—A New Orleans correspondent of the Charleston Mercury writes as follows :- The improvements on Canal street are still continuing, and when finished it will be the most magnificent street in the United States, if not in the world-being eight miles in length, extending from the Mississippi River to Lake Pontchartrain, and nearly 200 feet wide, with a parterre promenade in the center of 40 feet in width. At all the grand crossings monuments or fountains are to be erected. Already Clay's monument stands at its junction with St. Charles, and it is now proposed to erect a splendid monument to Fulton, to be placed at the head of the street, fronting the Mississippi. The design, it is said, has already been made and accepted by the city. This street is the great promenade, and the fashionable side is crowded every evening.

LT. HUNTER DAVIDSON'S BOAT APPARATUS.-The boat lowering, detaching, and attacking apparatus, lately invented and patented by Lt. Hunter Davidson, of the United States Navy, has been again tested by the Government. Commander Craven, in his late official report of the summer cruise of the Plymouth. says that the life-boat was lowered in twenty-five seconds from the alarm of " man overboard," and when the ship was running eight knots through a rough sea. The boat picked up the life-buoy which had been let go, and returned to the ship before the ship's headway had been stopped, and consequently before a boat rigged with the old plan could have been started to lower. The boat was drawn up and secured to her griping again in one minute, and the ship was under all sail on her course. This is almost incredible, and yet it is true. The dangers of the sea seem to be entirely overcome in this simple apparatus, invented by an American Lieutenant.

COAL BRANDY -Among the inventions of later years the existence of which is not generally known as it might be, is " coal brandy." A weekly paper states that, owing to the moulding and rotting of the grape, French brandy-makers have adopted bitumious coal as a substitute. "They distill a potent spirit from this substance, which is thus made available for the production of two kinds of fire-one for the comfort of man, and the other for the destruction of his health, his senses and his soul." Large quantities of alcohol distilled from coal and 'doctored' with certain chemicals to give it the ' Cognae flavor,' are now exported from France to England. Coal. brandy is the latest adaptation of the good gifts of Providence to the purpose of poisonmongers that has come to our knowledge. Coal tar has been long used for the flavoring of whiskies; but a liquor with a coal basis is a specimen of chemistry which might well make the "best fellow" shudder.

TAGLIONI IN HER OLD AGE-THE GLORY OF A DANC-ING DIVINITY DEPARTED .- What can be imagined more melancholy, says a recent number of the New York Express, than the sight now presented of the rehearsals at the Grand Opera in Paris. Taglioni, once la deess de la danse, has been obliged by Time, who, like pallida mors knocks at every door, to abdicate her divinity; she no longer delights admiring crowds, nor, by her enchanting grace, exterts the plaudits of the echoing theater. And yet, the sourceirs of her former glory are too strong to allow her to live elsewhere, and every morning she visits the stage to superintend the rehearsals of a ballet in which she is not to dance. The incomparable gyrations that so fascinated the world can never be more renewed, but she groups the world can never be more renewed, but sne groups the corps and arranges the tableaux and directs the movements of the budding ballet girls. Instead of comments of satisfaction to those who may favor this nor at night, amid flowers and lights, and the incense of adulation, to whirl into attitudes of such grace that none could resist their charm, she now appears in the morning, in her bonnet and shawl, with wearied and rheumatic limbs, her elasticity departed, her wondrous fascinations withered. No more can she twine her arms in subtle movements that tell the language of passion or of sentiment more delicately than words; no longer can she inspire her pedestals with an expression as ineffably graceful as that of the old Greek statues; no longer can she elevate one nether extremity to a beight unparalleled in the annals of physical history : and sustain it pointing to the stars as long as the plaudits of the house continue to excite her nervous

Alas, these glories are all past. Now her sinews bear her not stiffly up ; her old bones are racked with aches: her movements are angular, and should she attempt the feats which once were unrivaled and indeed which are unrivaled still, stubborn nature would soon remind her that age has staled her infinite vari- 239-q ety. So she covers up the limbs that were first dis played for the admiration of one sex and the envy of another; wears long petticonts and veils, and haunts like a ghost the scene where once she reigned su-

Such a calculation carries us back well Westminster, whose annual income is about $7,000. on toward a former geological period, and proves one, and perhaps both, of two things; first, that in past ages an infinitely greater number of those birds hovered over the islands; and secondly, that the material world existed at a period long anterior to its

are obtained by cleansing the blood of its impurities. Blood we are told, on the highest authority, is the "Life," or at least the medium of Life to the Body; and it is, we know, the great feeder of every part of the frame. Thus the blood is the great channel of disease; consequently, a good or bad state of the system, or constitution, is no more or less than a good or bud state of the blood. We have made the composition of the blood island extending N. and S. about 15 miles, and from our study, and are satisfied that two-thirds of all discases are caused by its impurities.

Believing the above facts, we made ourselves acquainted with the BLOOD CHEMICALLY with a view to a reliable medicinal agent, that would correct all impurities of the blood, and at the agent, that would cure all diseases arising therefrom. We have succeeded beyond our most sauguine expectations, as ds can testify who have tried the virtues of the preparation known by all professional men as HALL'S SARSAPARILLA, YELLOW DOCK, AND IODIDE OF POTASS.

Beware of ignorant imitators. The genuine is sold everywhere by respectable dealers, in preference to all others.
